Midsomer Norton Civic Awards

Volunteers in Midsomer Norton will be recognised at the town's Annual Civic Service at 6pm on Sunday 22nd June at St John's Parish Church.

Originally started in 2007 by the Midsomer Norton Society, these awards have developed into an important part of the town's civic calendar. The Town Council took on the awards when they were formed in 2011 as a way of recognising the contribution of local residents who volunteer their time.

"Over the years many people have been honoured for everything from specific projects to a complete lifetime of achievement. What is clear is that in Midsomer Norton at least, year on year there is no shortage of dedicated individuals and groups to honour", said Paul Myers, Mayor of Midsomer Norton.

As ever a number of local people and community groups have been nominated for awards this year by local residents, community leaders and councillors. The range of individuals and the work they do shows what an important contribution volunteering plays in our community and how important it is that as a community we say thank you to those who give so much.

The whole community is invited to attend the Civic Service at St John's Church on the 22nd June. For further details, please visit the Town Council's website at www.midsomernortontowncouncil.co.uk or ring the Town Clerk on 01761 418701.
